Chapter I

COPYRIGHT

VOLUME 1

Subject Matter of Copyright

Section 2

Author's work

(1) The subject matter of copyright shall be a literary work or any other work of art or a scientific work, which is a unique outcome of the creative activity of the author and is expressed in any objectively perceivable manner including electronic form, permanent or temporary, irrespective of its scope, purpose or significance (hereinafter referred to as “work”). A work shall be, without limitation, a literary work expressed by speech or in writing, a musical work, a dramatic work or musical dramatic work, a choreographic work and pantomimic work, a photographic work and a work produced by a process similar to photography, an audiovisual work such as a cinematographic work, a work of fine arts such as a painting, graphic or sculptural work, an work of architecture including an urban design work, a work of applied art, and a cartographic work.

(2) A computer program, a photograph or a creation expressed by a process similar to photography, which are original in the sense that they are the author's own intellectual creation, shall also be considered a work. A database which by the way of the selection or arrangement of its content is the author's own intellectual creation, and in which the individual parts are arranged in a systematic or methodical way and are individually accessible by electronic or other means, is a collection of works. No other criteria shall be applied to determine their eligibility for that protection.

(3) Copyright shall apply to the work in its entirety, to its individual developmental phases and to parts of the work, including its title and the names of its characters, if these comply with the conditions stipulated in paragraph 1 or in paragraph 2, provided that the items are subject to copyright as defined by that paragraph.

(4) A work which is the outcome of the creative adaptation of another work, including its translation into another language, shall also be subject to copyright. This shall be without prejudice to the rights of the author of the adapted or translated work.

(5) A collection like a journal, encyclopædia, anthology, exhibition, or any other collection of independent works or other elements that by reason of their selection and of the arrangement of the content meet the conditions set out in paragraph 1 above, is a collection of works.

(6) A work under this Act shall not include, in particular, a subject matter of the work as such, daily news or any other data as such, an idea, a procedure, a principle, a method, a discovery, a scientific theory, a mathematical and similar formula, a statistical diagram and similar item as such.

Section 3

Exemptions to Copyright in Public Interest

Copyright protection shall not apply to:

- a) an official work, such as a legal regulation, decision, general measure, public charter, publicly accessible register and collection of its documents, and also any official draft of an official work and other preparatory official documentation including the official translation of such work, Chamber of Deputies and Senate publications, a memorial chronicle of a municipality (municipal chronicles), a state symbol and symbol of a municipality, and any other such works where there is public interest in their exclusion from copyright protection,
- b) creations of traditional folk culture, unless the real name of the author is commonly known and the works are anonymous or pseudonymous (Section 7); such works may only be used in a way that shall not detract from their value.

Section 4

Making a Work Public and Publication of a Work

(1) A work is made public by its first authorised public recitation, performance, showing, exhibition, publishing or any other way of making available to the public.

(2) The work is published by commencing an authorised public distribution of its reproductions.

VOLUME 2

Authorship

Section 5

Author

(1) Author is the natural person who created the work.

(2) Author of a collection of works is the natural person who selected and arranged works in a creative way; the rights of authors of works included in the collection shall not be affected thereby.

Section 6

Legal Presumption of Authorship

Author shall be the natural person whose real name is indicated in a usual manner on the work or is indicated with the work on the list of the subjects of protection administered by the relevant collective management organisations, unless proven otherwise; this shall not apply in cases where such information is in conflict with other information so indicated. This provision shall also apply if such a name is a pseudonym, provided that the pseudonym used by the author evokes no doubt as to the author's identity.

Section 7

Anonym and Pseudonym

(1) The identity of an author whose work has in accordance with their expressed will been made public without the indication of their name (anonymous work) or eventually under a pseudonym or under an artistic signature (pseudonymous work), may not be revealed without the consent of the author.

(2) Until such time as the author of an anonymous or pseudonymous work publicly reveals their identity, the author shall be represented in the exercise and protection of copyright for their work by the person who has made the work public, under that person's name and on the account of the author, unless proven otherwise; the public declaration of the author shall not be necessary if their real name is commonly known.

Section 8

Joint Authors

(1) The copyright to a work that, until the time of its completion, was created by the creative collaboration of two or more authors as a single work (work of joint authors), shall belong to all the joint authors jointly and severally. Creation of a work by joint authors shall not be prejudiced if the creative contributions to the work by the individual joint authors can be distinguished, unless such contributions are capable of being used independently.

(2) A joint author shall not be a person who has contributed to the creation of the work merely by providing assistance or advice of a technical, administrative or expert nature or by providing documentation or technical material, or who merely gave the impulse to create the work.

(3) All the joint authors shall be both authorised and obliged, jointly and severally, in respect of any legal acts related to their joint work.

(4) Joint authors shall decide unanimously about the disposal of their joint work. Should one of the joint authors obstruct, without serious reason, the disposal of the work of joint authors, the remaining joint authors may seek the substitution of their consent in court. Copyright protection of joint authors' work against endangering or infringement may also be sought by an individual joint author independently.

(5) Unless otherwise agreed between the joint authors, the share of each of the joint authors in the joint proceeds from the disposal of copyright in the work of joint authors shall be determined in proportion to the size of their creative contributions; if it is not possible to distinguish these contributions, the shares in the joint proceeds shall be equal.

Origin and Content of Copyright

Division 1

General Provisions

Section 9

Origin of Copyright

(1) The copyright in a work shall arise at the moment when the work is expressed in any objectively perceivable form.

(2) Copyright in a work shall not become extinct by the destruction of the object through which the work is expressed.

(3) The acquisition of the ownership right or of any other right in rem to the object through which the work is expressed shall not imply authorisation to exercise the right to use the work, unless otherwise agreed or unless otherwise stipulated herein. The extension to another person of authorisation to exercise the right to use the work shall not affect the property right or other rights in rem to the object through which the work is expressed, unless otherwise agreed or stipulated by special legal regulation.

(4) The owner or any other user of the object through which the work is expressed shall not be obliged to maintain such an object and protect it from destruction, unless otherwise agreed or otherwise stipulated by special legislation or by this Act.

Section 10

Content of Copyright

Copyright shall include exclusive moral rights (Section 11) and exclusive economic rights (Section 12 et seq.).

Division 2

Moral Rights

Section 11

(1) The author shall have the right to decide about making their work public.

(2) The author shall have the right to claim authorship, including the right to decide whether and in what way their authorship is to be indicated when their work is made public and further used, provided that the indication of authorship is normal in such use.

(3) The author shall have the right to the inviolability of their work, in particular, the right to grant consent to any alteration of, or other intervention in their work, unless otherwise stipulated herein. Where the work is used by any other person, such use may not be executed in a way that detracts from the value of the work. The author shall have the right of supervision over such other person's compliance with this obligation (author's supervision), unless the nature of the work or its use implies otherwise, or unless it is not possible to fairly require the user to enable the author to exercise their right to supervision.

(4) The author may not waive their moral rights; these rights are non-transferable and shall become extinct on the death of the author. This shall be without prejudice to the provision of paragraph 5 below.

(5) After the death of the author no one may arrogate authorship of the work. The work may only be used in a way which shall not detract from the value of the work and, the name of the author must be indicated, provided that such shall be a normal practice and unless the work is an anonymous work. Protection may be claimed even if the protection of the economic rights expired by any of the author's kin, legal persons associating authors or by the relevant collective management organisation.

(2) This right of the author shall not become extinct with the granting of the authorisation under paragraph 1; the author only has, within the scope arising out of the contract, to suffer another person's intervention in their right to use the work.

(3) The author shall have the right to demand of the owner of the object through which the work is expressed to make such an object available to him where this is necessary for the exercise of copyright in accordance with this Act. This right may not be applied contrary to the legitimate interests of the owner; the owner shall not be obliged to render such an object to the author; the owner shall be obliged, however, to make a photograph or any other reproduction of the work at the request and expenses of the author and hand it over to the author.

Communication to the Public

Section 18

General Provisions

(1) The communication of a work to the public shall mean making the work available in an intangible form, live or from a recording, by wire or wireless means.

(2) The communication of the work to the public pursuant to paragraph 1 shall also mean making the work available in such a way that members of the public may access it from a place and at a time individually chosen by them, especially by using a computer network or similar network. The communication of a work to the public shall also include the making a work available to the public by an online content-sharing service provider pursuant to Section 46 paragraph 1, where the work has been uploaded by a user of such a service.

(3) The communication of the work to the public shall not mean the mere operation of a facility enabling or ensuring such communication.

(4) The author's right to communicate the work to the public shall not be exhausted by communicating it to the public as specified in paragraphs 1 and 2.

Section 19

Live Performance of a Work and its Transmission

(1) The live performance of the work shall mean making available the work performed live by a performer, including, but not limited to, a live-recited literary work, live-performed musical work with or without words or of a dramatic or musical-dramatic, choreographic or pantomimic work performed live on stage.

(2) Transmission of the live performance of a work shall mean making simultaneously available the live performance of the work by means of a loudspeaker, screen or similar device located beyond the space of the live performance, with the exception of the uses of the work pursuant to Sections 21 to 23.

Section 20

(1) Broadcasting of the work by radio or television shall mean making the work available by means of radio or television or any other means of making the work available designated to the communication the sounds or images and sounds or the representations thereof by wire or wireless means, including transmission by cable or by satellite, by the original broadcaster. Broadcasting of a work by radio or television shall also mean the supply of programme-carrying signals by the original broadcaster to the operator of retransmission services pursuant to Section 22, even if the programme-carrying signals are not accessible to the public during such supply. The use of a work referred to in the second sentence shall be deemed to be a single act of communication to the public in which the broadcaster and the operator of retransmission services pursuant to Section 22 participate, but not jointly and severally, and for which both must obtain a licence for their respective share of such communication to the public; the provisions of Section 97d paragraph 1 letter (a) points (1) and (2), Section 97d paragraph 1 letter (c), Section 97e paragraph 4 letters (c) and (n) and Section 98c paragraph 5 shall apply mutatis mutandis. Paragraphs 5 to 7 shall not apply to the operator of retransmission services.

(2) In this Act, satellite shall mean any satellite working on the frequency bands that are:

- a) reserved under specific legal regulations in the telecommunications area, for the transmission of signals to be received by the public; or
- b) reserved for closed communication from one point to another, provided that the circumstances of the individual reception of the signals are comparable to the circumstances referred to in letter (a) above.

(3) Broadcasting by satellite pursuant to paragraph 1 shall mean that sounds, or sounds and images, or their expressions intended for reception by the public, are put into an uninterrupted chain of communication leading to the satellite and down towards the earth under the control and responsibility of the broadcaster. Where the signals carrying signs, sounds or images are encoded, the broadcasting shall fall within the definition pursuant to paragraph 1 if the broadcaster has facilitated, or has given consent to the facilitation of public access to decrypting device.

(4) Broadcasting a work as specified in paragraph 1 above shall also mean making the work available through simultaneous, unabridged and unaltered broadcasting of the work by radio or television, if carried out by the same broadcaster.

(5) Broadcasting a work by satellite occurs in the territory of that Member State of the European Union or that of the States of the European Economic Area where, under the control and responsibility of the broadcaster, the signals carrying sounds, or sounds and images, or their expression intended for reception by the public, are put into an uninterrupted chain of communication leading to the satellite and down towards the earth.

(6) If satellite broadcasting is carried out in the territory of a state that does not provide a level of copyright protection comparable to or higher than that provided by this Act, such satellite broadcasting shall be considered to have occurred in the territory of that Member State of the European Union or that of the States of the European Economic Area where:

- a) the station from which the signal carrying sounds, or sounds and images, or their expression intended for reception by the public, are transmitted to the satellite; or
- b) the broadcaster has its registered office, unless the circumstances specified in letter (a) above exist.

The right in respect of satellite broadcasting can be applied in relation to the person operating the station in accordance with clause a) above or the broadcaster referred to in letter (b).

(7) If the signals carrying sounds, or sounds and images, or their expression intended for reception by the public, are put into an uninterrupted chain of communication leading to the satellite and down towards the earth in the territory of a state that does not provide a level of copyright protection comparable to or higher than that provided by this Act, and if at the same time the station from which the broadcasting is being executed is not located in the territory of any Member State of the European Union or any of the States of the European Economic Area, then the satellite broadcasting of the work shall be deemed to have occurred in the territory of that Member State of the European Union or that of the States of the European Economic Area where the headquarters of the broadcaster is located. The rights hereunder may then be applied in relation to such a broadcaster.

Section 21a

Ancillary online service of the broadcaster

(1) For the purposes of this Act, a broadcaster's ancillary online service means

- a) the transmission of a work over a computer or similar network by the same broadcaster at the same time as the transmission of the work by another technology, in unaltered form,
- b) the making available to the public of the broadcast work by the same broadcaster pursuant to Section 18 paragraph 2 for a specified period after the broadcast of the work, or
- c) the making available to the public of a work by the same broadcaster pursuant to Section 18 paragraph 2 where the work is part of material which is ancillary to its broadcast, such as previews of a broadcast programme and reviews of such a programme.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, the use of the work referred to in paragraph 1 shall be deemed to take place in the territory of the Member State of the European Union or the State of the European Economic Area in which the headquarters of the broadcaster is located.

(3) Paragraph 2 shall apply to the use of the work

- a) by a radio broadcaster and
- b) by a TV broadcaster in a news or current affairs programme or in a programme produced exclusively by that broadcaster; this does not apply to the use of a work included in the broadcast of a sports event broadcasted by a TV broadcaster.

(4) Paragraph 2 shall also apply to reproduction of a work which is necessary for the provision of, access to or use of an ancillary online service.

(5) When negotiating the remuneration³⁰⁾ for the grant of the authorisation to exercise rights referred to in paragraphs 1 to 4, account shall be taken of the characteristics of the ancillary online service, in particular its nature, the duration of the availability of the work, the territorial scope of use, the number of listeners or viewers and the number of language versions. This is without prejudice to the possibility of calculating the amount of remuneration on the basis of the broadcaster's income from the ancillary online service.

Section 22

Retransmission of Radio or TV Broadcast

(1) The retransmission of the broadcast of a work shall mean making the work available by the simultaneous, unabridged and unaltered transmission of the radio or television broadcast of the work, wireless or by wire, if this is executed by an entity other than the original broadcaster of such broadcast, regardless of how that person obtains for such purposes signals carrying sounds or images and sounds or expressions thereof intended for reception by the public from the original broadcaster. The provisions of Section 21 paragraph 3 second sentence apply mutatis mutandis.

(2) Cable retransmission of the broadcast of a work shall mean making the work available in accordance with paragraph 1 if it is executed by cable or microwave system, regardless of how a person other than the broadcaster of such a broadcast obtains for such purposes signals carrying sounds or images and sounds or expressions thereof intended for reception by the public from the original broadcaster. The provisions of Section 21 paragraph 3, second sentence, shall apply mutatis mutandis.

Section 23

Performing Radio or TV Broadcast

The performing a radio or television broadcast of a work means the making available of a work broadcast by radio or television by means of a device technically capable of receiving radio or television broadcasts. The making available of a work to patients in the course of the provision of health care services in health care facilities shall not be deemed to be the operation of a radio or television broadcast pursuant to Section 18 paragraph 3. The making available of a work to a narrow circle of persons shall not be deemed to constitute the performing of radio and television broadcast under Section 18 paragraph 3 if such making available is incidental and independent of the wishes of the recipients and is not of a profit-making nature.

Subdivision 2

Other Economic Rights

Section 24

Resale Right (Droit de suite)

(1) Where the original work of art that has been transferred by its author to the ownership of another person is subsequently sold for a purchase price of EUR 1,500 or more, the author shall be entitled, in respect of any resale of the work, to royalty as set out in the Annex to this Act, provided that a gallery operator, auctioneer or any other person who consistently deals in works of art (hereinafter the “dealer”) takes part in such sale as a seller, purchaser or intermediary.

(2) The persons liable to pay the royalty under paragraph 1 to the relevant collective management organisation shall be the seller and the dealer jointly and severally. The collective management organisation shall allow the liable persons to inspect the list referred to in Section 97c paragraph 1.

(3) The original work of art as referred to in paragraph 1 shall mean any original work of art, including, but not limited to, a picture, a drawing, a painting, a collage, a sculpture, an engraving, a lithography or any other work of graphic art, a photograph, a tapestry ceramics, an item of glassware and author jewellery, provided that they were created by author themselves, or they are copies considered to be original works of art. Copies that are deemed to be original works of art are such copies as were made in limited numbers by the author themselves or under their authority and are numbered, signed or otherwise duly authorised by the author. The right to royalty as referred to in paragraph 1 above shall not apply to works of architecture in the form of a building, and works of applied art, unless they display the features of the original of a work of art, and to the manuscripts of composers and writers.

(4) The right to royalty as referred to in paragraph 1 shall not apply to the first resale if the seller obtained the original work of art directly from the author less than three years before that resale and if the purchase price of the original work, when resold, does not exceed EUR 10,000.

(5) For the purposes of exercising the right referred to in paragraph 1 and for the calculation of the appropriate royalty, the purchase price shall be understood as the price net of value added tax.

(6) The author and the collective management organisations are entitled to be provided by the dealer with any information that may be essential for securing the payment of the royalty under paragraph 1, including data used to identify the seller, for a period of three years from the date of the sale. The collective management organisation may only request data used to identify the seller in justified cases, particularly in a case where the sale has been challenged, the purchase price is disputed or the remuneration paid to the trader, while it must also ensure the protection of the personal data provided. The dealer who takes part, as specified in paragraph 1, in the sale of the original work of art shall notify such sale to the relevant collective management organisation not later than by the end of January of the calendar year that follows the year in which the sale took place. The notification referred to in the preceding sentence shall contain specification of the originals of the works of art and information concerning the purchase price. The royalty, based on the collective management organisations settlement, shall fall due in a period which shall not be shorter than 30 days, unless otherwise agreed between the collective management organisation and the dealer.

Section 25

(1) For works that were made public and may be reproduced:

- a) for personal use by a natural person or for the own internal use by a legal person or a solo self-employed individual (Sections 30 and 30a), using a device for making printed reproductions on paper or another similar base; or
- b) for personal use by a natural person (Section 30) on the basis of an audio, audiovisual or any other fixation or radio or television broadcast by the transfer thereof by means of a device to blank record carriers, the author is entitled to remuneration in connection with such reproduction of the work.

(2) The person liable to pay remuneration pursuant to paragraph 1 shall be:

- b) the producer, importer or consignee of technical devices for making printed reproductions;
- c) the producer, importer or consignee of blank record carriers;

- e) the provider of paid reproduction services, in the case of printed reproductions; provider of paid reproduction services shall also mean the person who makes available, for a consideration, the device for making printed reproductions.

(3) Entitlement to remuneration to be paid by the persons defined in paragraph 2 letters (a) to (d) in connection with the reproduction of a work for individual use shall pertain to the author at the time of the import, receiving or first sale of:

- a) Device for making reproductions of fixations;
- b) Device for making printed reproductions;
- c) Blank record carriers.

(4) Entitlement to the remuneration to be paid by the persons defined in paragraph 2 letter (b) shall depend on the probable number of devices designated for making print reproductions of works under Section 30a. For the calculation of the amount of the remuneration in respect of the devices designated for making print reproductions, the probable number of these devices is set at 20%. The remuneration is calculated on the basis of the average price of the device exclusive of the value added tax.

(5) Entitlement to the remuneration to be paid by the persons defined in paragraph 2 letter (e) shall depend on the probable number of the print reproductions of works made in accordance with Section 30a. The rules set out in points 6 and 7 of Annex 1 hereto shall apply to the calculation of remuneration in respect of the print reproductions made.

(6) The persons referred to in paragraph 2 shall submit to the relevant collective management organisation – always in summary for half of the calendar year and not later than by the end of the following calendar month – information on the facts relevant for setting the amount of the remuneration, including, but not limited to,

information on the type and number of the sold, imported or received devices for making reproductions of fixations, devices for making printed reproductions, and the blank record carriers, and also on the total number of the printed reproductions made by the devices for providing paid reproduction services.

(7) The Ministry of Culture (hereinafter the “Ministry”) shall issue a Decree to define the types of devices to make print reproductions and the types of blank record carriers on which a remuneration is to be paid in accordance with paragraph 1 and also to define amount of the lump-sum remuneration depending on the type of device for making the printed reproductions and types of blank record carriers. This Decree shall also define types of devices for making reproductions of fixations on which remuneration is to be paid in accordance with paragraph 1; level of this remuneration is indicated in Annex 1 to this Act.

(8) Remuneration shall not be paid where the devices referred to in paragraph 3 letters (a) and (b) are exported or consigned for resale or where blank record carriers are exported or consigned for resale. Also, remuneration shall not be paid in the case of devices and blank record carriers if these are intended only to be used within the Czech Republic for the reproduction of works on the basis of licence agreements by persons who use them so in the course of their own activities.

Section 25a

Right to Remuneration in Connection with the Rental of an Original or a Reproduction of a Work

If the author grants a license for the rental of an original or a copy of the work embodied in a phonogram or an audio-visual fixation to the producer of the fixation, the author shall become entitled to equitable remuneration from the person who will be renting out the original or a copy of the work so recorded; the author cannot waive such right.

Section 25b

The right to an appropriate share of the revenues of the publisher of a press publication

The author of a work incorporated in a press publication shall be entitled to an appropriate share of the revenues of the publisher of the press publication accruing to that publisher from the exercise of the right under Section 87b.

Division 4

Common Provisions on Economic Rights

Section 26

(1) Economic rights may not be waived by the author; such rights are not transferable and are not subject to the execution of a decision; this provision shall not apply to claims arising from such economic rights.

(2) Economic rights are inheritable. Where the economic rights to the work are inherited by more than one heir, their mutual relations to the work shall be governed, mutatis mutandis, by Section 8 paragraphs 3 and 4. If such economic rights are inherited by the State or the economic rights escheat to the State, then such rights shall be exercised by the State Cultural Fund of the Czech Republic²⁾ in its own name, and, in the case of audiovisual works and works for audiovisual use, by the Czech Audiovisual Fund.³⁾ The income of the State from the exercise of the economic rights, as exercised by the mentioned state funds, shall be treated as the revenue of those state funds. Section 52

Where an author grants an online content-sharing service provider an authorisation to exercise a right pursuant to Section 18 paragraph 1 or 2, that authorisation shall also apply to the acts referred to in Section 18 paragraphs 1 and 2 performed by a user of that service, unless that user performs those acts in the course of his business or in the independent exercise of his profession or unless those acts generate significant revenues.

(3) Collective management is exercised in a systematic manner, on its own behalf and at the sole responsibility of the collective management organisation and on behalf of the rightholder. management organisation does not act as a representative of rightholders.

(4) The exercise of collective management is not an entrepreneurship.

(5) In order to achieve greater efficiency in collective management, the collective management organisation may perform certain activities, for example issuing invoices or distribution of amounts due to rightholders, through a person in which it has a major shareholding, or which the collective management organisation controls directly or indirectly, in its entirety or in part, alone or together with other collective management organisations. (3) A rightholder may entrust to a collective management organisation the exercise of collective management of their rights, categories of rights or types of work and other items of protection for the territory of their choice, regardless of where the collective management organisation is established and, with respect to the rightholder, regardless of their nationality, domicile or place of establishment.

(8) A collective management organisation may not restrict the exercise of the rights set forth in paragraphs 6 and 7 above by requiring that the exercise of the collective management of rights or categories of rights or types

(9) A collective management organisation shall be obliged also to allow rightholders who are not its members to communicate with it by electronic means.

(5) The provisions of paragraph 4 shall not apply where the number of rightholders who are nationals of third countries or who have their headquarters or habitual residence in a third country, whose rights are managed by the collective management organisation under a contract pursuant to Section 97g, is sufficiently representative in terms of the type and number of registered subject matter and, in the case of works, the types of works.

Section 97f

List of Out-of-commerce Works

(1) The National Library of the Czech Republic (hereinafter referred to as “the National Library”) maintains a list of out-of-commerce works, which it publishes on its website. Only literary works, including works included in them, or incorporated in them or forming an integral part of them are included in the list.

(3) The National Library shall include a work in the list, provided

- a) it was not possible to find the work in the same or similar form, which is in particular the subsequent publication of the work or publication in electronic form, within a period of 6 months of receipt of the proposal pursuant to paragraph 2 above, when exercising reasonable effort and under normal conditions, for remuneration through normal commercial network
- b) the year of publication of the work precedes by at least 20 years the year in which the proposal for inclusion of the work in the list was made; and
- c) its use is clearly not subject to sales or licensing conditions, which would exclude it from inclusion in the list.

(4) The National Library may include in the list periodicals published in the Czech Republic 10 years ago and more, provided they are clearly not subject to licensing conditions, which would exclude them from inclusion in the list. In this case, a work contained in a single issue of a periodical should be considered as being included in the list only as part of this issue.

(5) A rightholder or a publisher is authorized to apply to the National Library in writing to request that their work be removed from the list. The National Library shall remove the work from the list at the latest on the last day of the calendar month following that in which the request was received. Division 3

Obligations between Collective Management Organisations

Section 97g

Mutual Authorisation of Collective Management Organisations in the Execution of Collective Management

(1) A collective management organisation may only entrust the execution of collective management of rights collectively managed by itself to another collective management organisation by contract just in the case of

- a) a foreign person, who, under the law of another state, is entitled to execute collective management on the territory of that state for the same rights and, in the case of a work, for the same kind, for the execution of collective management in that state, or
- b) a domestic collective management organisation, which is authorized to execute collective management for the same rights, if this results in a more efficient execution of collective management.

(2) The contract pursuant to paragraph 1 must be concluded in writing.

(3) A collective management organisation mandated under paragraph 1 shall act in its own name when exercising collective management and on behalf of the collective management organisation who mandated it; this is without prejudice to the obligation of such a collective management organisation to transfer the gained rights revenue to the rightholders for whom it exercise collective management.

Section 97h

Joint Representative of Collective Management Organisation

(1) In the event contracts are concluded for the granting of authorization for the exercise of the right to use a subject-matters and this right is collectively managed by at least 2 collective right managers, the user is entitled to address any of them in writing to request that the competent collective management organisation appoint a joint representative by concluding a single contract; the collective management organisation who received the request to appoint a joint representative shall immediately inform the other competent collective management organisation of this request. The justification for appointing a joint representative of the collective management organisation under this provision is that this aims to achieve a more effective exercise of collective management.

(2) The competent collective management organisation shall be obliged to appoint a joint representative pursuant to paragraph 1 above within a period of 2 months from receipt of the request to the competent collective management organisation. This obligation applies to the exercise of collective management of the right to use the performance of a work and an artistic performance from a sound or audiovisual recording, the performance of such a recording and the transmission of such a performance, the right to transmit a radio or television broadcast and the right to remuneration in connection with the reproduction of a work for a personal need and an own internal need.

(3) The competent collective management organisation shall inform the Ministry of the appointment of the joint representative without undue delay and shall publish it on its website.

(4) Paragraphs 1 and 2 shall apply mutatis mutandis to the conclusion of collective agreements pursuant to Section 98a paragraph 3 and, in the event the participating collective management organisations agree, also to claims for damages or for the restitution of unjust enrichment, provided an action for such a claim has not already been brought before a court.

Division 4

Concluding Contracts with Users

Section 98

(1) A collective management organisation shall be obliged to conclude contracts with users, with persons authorized to protect the interests of users associated with them, or with persons representing users in accordance with the Library Act¹⁹⁾, who use items of protection in the same or a similar manner, on equal terms and on the basis of objective facts, by which, for the users

- a) it grants authorization to exercise the right to use subject-matters, for which it collectively manages this type of right,
- b) it negotiates the amount of and method of payment of remuneration pursuant to Section 97d paragraph 1 letter (a) points 1 and 2 and letter (b) and monitors compliance therewith, and
- c) negotiates the method of payment of remuneration stipulated by this Act.

(2) Collective management organisation and the persons referred to in paragraph 1 are obliged, during negotiations intended to conclude contracts pursuant to paragraph 1, mutually and without undue delay, to provide any necessary information, including criteria for determining rates pursuant to Section 98e and the necessary assistance. The collective management organisation shall submit, without undue delay after receipt of the necessary information, a draft contract to the person referred to in paragraph 1, or shall inform this person of the reasons for failing to submit this.

(3) All contracts between the collective management organisation and users must be negotiated in writing.

(4) The collective management organisation shall not be subject to the obligation set out in paragraph 1 above,

- a) if conclusion of the contract would be contrary to the legitimate common interests of the rightholders,
- b) if conclusion of the contract would be contrary to the legitimate interests of the rightholder to the subject-matter in the case of a proposal to conclude a contract which would grant an authorization relating to an protected subject matter individually designated, or
- c) if it would be unfair to require that a collective agreement be concluded with a legal person associating users because of the negligible number of users associated with this entity.

(5) When concluding a licensing agreement for a new type of online service, which has been offered to the public in the European Union or the European Economic Area for a period shorter than 3 years, the collective management organisation is entitled to apply different licensing terms and conditions to those applied to a different online service.

(6) The collective management organisation shall enable those persons referred to in paragraph 1 above to communicate with it by electronic means.

(7) The user is entitled to appoint a representative to represent him at meetings with the collective management organisation. The collective management organisation shall be obliged to engage in all dealings with the user through their representative provided the user has informed the collective management organisation in advance in writing that they will be represented during all negotiations. The collective management organisation shall not be under such an obligation if the representative is unable to receive written matter in the Czech Republic or if the representative avoids attending meetings or prevents or impedes the exercise of the rights of the collective management organisation towards the user in some other way.

(8) The provisions of the Civil Code on the right to a proportionate and fair additional remuneration for the grant of a licence and on the obligation of the licensee or sub-licensee to provide the author with regular, up-to-date, relevant and complete information on the use of the work³⁹⁾ shall not apply to the contracts referred to in paragraph 1.

(1) The collective management organisation shall provide the user with a licensing agreement for the non-exclusive authorization to exercise the right to use the subject-matter designated, either individually or collectively.

(2) For the purposes of this Act, a cumulative agreement is understood to mean a licensing agreement concluded between the collective management organisation and the user, by which the collective management organisation grants an authorization to exercise rights covering all the subject-matters for which it manages rights (hereinafter referred to as the “repertoire”), or to part of its repertoire. It applies that the subject of the authorization granted is sufficiently clearly designated in relation to each subject-matter for which the collective manager manages the rights and that the subject-matters do not need to be determined individually.

(3) For the purposes of this Act, a collective agreement means a contract pursuant to Section 98 paragraph 1, concluded between a collective management organisation and a legal person associating users or with a person representing users in accordance with the Library Act¹⁹⁾. Rights and obligations for individual users arise from the collective agreement with regard to the collective management organisation; this is without prejudice to the fact that the collective management organisation acts on behalf of the rightholders.

Section 98b

A user who has concluded a licensing agreement with a collective management organisation, but who is in default of payment of the remuneration and has also not paid the remuneration within the additional thirty-day period provided by the collective management organisation, is not authorized to use the protected subject matter under this agreement until such time as the remuneration owed has been paid or the obligation lapses otherwise.

Section 98c

Obligations of Users and Other Persons in Connection With the Conclusion of Contracts

(1) Users are obliged to enable the collective management organisation to exercise collective management properly and to provide it with information on the use of its repertoire necessary for the exercise of collective management, and in particular for the collection of income from the exercise of rights and its distribution and payment to the relevant rightholders. Users may not refuse to provide this information without good reason.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, the scope and technical format of the information and the period of time within which the user must provide this information to the collective management organisation shall be determined by the collective management organisation. When deciding on the technical format for providing this information, the collective management organisation and the user shall, as far as possible, take account of voluntary sectoral rules developed at international level or at the level of the European Union or the European Economic Area (hereinafter referred to as “sectoral rules”).

(3) A user, or other party to contracts concluded during the exercise of collective management, is obliged to demonstrate to the collective management organisation proper and timely performance of such contracts concluded with this collective management organisation, at its request. The collective management organisation may not use information obtained in this way for any purpose other than the exercise of collective management.

(4) The organizer of a public live music performance is obliged to appraise the relevant collective management organisation of such a performance 15 days prior to the performance. The provider of a public live music performance is obliged to submit to the organizer of a public live production a program of the production, listing the names of the authors and the titles of the works performed without undue delay, after the end of the production. The organizer is obliged to notify this program to the relevant collective management organisation at the latest within 15 days after the production, unless otherwise agreed in the contract between the organizer and the collective management organisation. The provisions of the first, second and third sentences shall not apply to the organizer of live public production and suppliers of live public production if there will be or have been performed only traditional culture expressions of a musical nature within the meaning of Section 3 letter (b), where the true name of the author is not generally known, or where all the rightholders of the work are suppliers of the production in question and at the same time do not have a contract with the collective management organisation for the management of the right of the live performance of the work, or only works in public domain will be performed.

(5) A user, who obtains an authorization to retransmit broadcasting pursuant to a law on Radio and Television Broadcasting²⁰⁾, is obliged to report to the relevant collective management organisation of such fact within 15 days of the start of such authorization.

Section 98d

Limitation of User Responsibility

(1) A collective management organisation, or a rightholder for whom it provides collective management, may not claim a right of deferment or a claim for damages or the restitution of unjust enrichment under this Act or any other contractual or statutory sanction because this is an unauthorized intervention into collectively managed rights or a threat against such a right, unless the user or a person authorized to defend the interests of users associated with it, properly and without undue delay conducts legal negotiations with the relevant collective management organisation, in connection with such an intervention or threat against rights, with the aim of concluding a contract required under this Act or agreeing a tariff pursuant to this Act or if it agrees in this regard to the use of a mediator pursuant to Section 101 or a mediator pursuant to the Act on mediation²¹⁾ or if at least one of the relevant collective management organisation has received a written request to authorize a joint representative pursuant to Section 97h, for the period until such a representative is authorized. Should the circumstances referred to in the first sentence persist, any intervention into collectively managed rights or threats against such rights shall not be deemed to be an offense or an administrative offense under this or any other Act.

(2) Paragraph 1 is without prejudice to a claim for the restitution of unjust enrichment in the amount of the usual remuneration.

(3) No barrier to the exercise of a right of deferment pursuant to paragraph 1 shall arise, or shall be waived, if the non-exercise of the right of deferment is contrary to the legitimate common interests of rightholders, particularly because it was clear from the behaviour of the user or the person authorized to defend the interests of users associated with it that they did not intend to conclude the contract referred to in paragraph 1 or compliance with the claim for the restitution of unjust enrichment would be at risk.

Division 5

Rates of Remuneration

Section 98e

General Provisions

(1) If the rates of remuneration obtained by collective management organisation are not set by this Act, they shall be set by the collective management organisation tariff (hereinafter referred to as the “tariff”) and are always shown net of VAT.

(2) The rates of remuneration set by the tariff must be based on objective and non-discriminatory criteria and be proportionate in relation to those criteria.

(3) When setting the rates of remuneration in the tariff, account shall be taken of the purpose, method, scope and circumstances of the use of the protected subject matter, in particular

- a) as to whether the use of the protected subject matter occurs during the course of business or other profit-making activity,
- b) to the direct or indirect economic or commercial gain the user receives from the use or in connection to the use of the protected subject matter,

- c) to the nature and characteristics of the place or the area in which the protected subject matter is used,
- d) to the frequency of use of the residential premises in which the protected subject matter is used,
- e) to the number of rightholders for whom the collective management organisation exercises collective management, including the number of rightholders for whom it acts on the basis of contracts pursuant to Section 97g paragraph 1 letter (a),
- f) to the number of persons to whom the work was communicated in a manner referred to in Section 19, and
- g) to the economic value of the services provided by the collective management organisation.

(4) Unless the work is not being made available to patients pursuant to the second sentence of Section 23, the rate of remuneration for the organization of a radio or television broadcast by a health services provider amounts to a maximum of 25% of the lowest rate of remuneration set by the tariff for the organization of a radio or television broadcast, unless otherwise agreed.

(5) The Ministry shall publish the applicable tariff on its website.

Section 98f

Procedure for Negotiating Certain Tariffs

(1) A collective management organisation is obliged to publish a draft tariff, together with a justification, on its website by 31 August each calendar year. By this deadline, the collective management organisation shall submit a draft tariff to legal persons associating the relevant users of items of protection, provided these entities have applied to the collective management organisation for this purpose and have proved that they associate more than a negligible number of users, and to persons representing users in accordance with the Library Act ¹⁹⁾ and to users in accordance with special legal regulations ^{19b)} or to persons representing them, and invite them to comment on this draft by the end of the month following the month in which the draft tariff was submitted. The collective management organisation is required to send the draft tariff, together with the justification, to the ministry by electronic means by the same deadline. If any of the persons invited to comment, or a user who has concluded a contract with the relevant collective management organisation pursuant to Section 98 paragraph 1 letter (a) or (b) for the given manner of use of the protected subject matter or who intends concluding this type of contract, files an objection in writing by the aforementioned deadline against this draft, the collective management organisation is obliged to discuss the reasons for this objection with them within 2 months. This is without prejudice to the possibility of using mediator's tariffs for negotiation, pursuant to Section 53 et seq. and 101. Should this person fail to submit a request for mediation pursuant to Section 57 paragraph 1 within 1 month of discussions the comments, neither this person, nor the users associated with it will be able to rely on the legal effects of a limitation of liability pursuant to Section 98d paragraph 1.

(2) Should the collective management organisation decide to raise the rate of remuneration by more than the rate of inflation in the year preceding the year in which the new rate of remuneration is intended to come into effect compared to its current amount, the collective management organisation is required to obtain the prior consent of the Ministry of Culture (hereinafter referred to as the "ministry") in order to proceed according to paragraph 1. The collective management organisation and persons pursuant to paragraph 1 who raised objections to the increase in the rate of remuneration within the deadline are parties to the consent proceedings. The Ministry will not give its consent if the increase in the rate of remuneration is not based on objective and non-discriminatory criteria, or if it is not proportionate to these criteria. When assessing compliance with the criteria pursuant to the previous sentence, the Ministry shall take into account, in particular, the criteria set out in Section 98e paragraph 3. If the collective management organisation fails to obtain the required consent of the Ministry, it may only raise the rate of remuneration, while complying with the conditions set out in Section 98e paragraph 3 to the limit set out in the first sentence. The rate of inflation in the year referred to in the first sentence is the increase in the average annual consumer price index of consumer goods and services, expressed as a percentage change in the average price level over the last 12 months, compared to the average of the previous 12 months, published every calendar year by the CSO for the previous year ^{19a)}.

(3) If any of the persons referred to in paragraph 1 filed a written objection to the draft tariff in time (hereinafter referred to as a "dissenting person"), the draft tariff is considered to be not approved in relation to that person; this applies mutatis mutandis with regard to users associated with or represented by this dissenting person. With regard to the other users, the draft tariff is considered to have been approved, provided it meets the conditions laid out in paragraph 2. If the tariff is not negotiated using the procedure set out in paragraph 1, the dissenting person or the collective management organisation are entitled to submit an application to the court for a decision on the dispute on determining the rate of remuneration set out in the draft tariff.

Division 6

Management of Rights Revenue and Income Arising from the Investment of Rights Revenue

Section 99

General Provisions

(1) A collective management organisation is obliged

- a) to collect rights revenue for rightholders,
- b) to claim, in its own name and on behalf of the rightholders, the right to compensation, the right to the restitution of unjust enrichment from the unauthorized exercise of collectively managed rights and the right to refrain from the unauthorized exercise of collectively managed rights, unless the rightholder, if authorized, can claim such a right themselves or if it is uneconomic,
- c) to distribute and pay the relevant rightholders rights revenue and income arising from investment of rights revenue, in accordance with the rules of distribution,
- d) if it provides social, cultural or educational services financed from income from the exercise of rights or income from investing the income from the exercise of rights, to provide them on the basis of fair and transparent criteria, guaranteeing equal access to such services and the scope in which such services are provided, and
- e) to create rules of distribution and create a reserve fund in accordance with this from income collected for the exercise of rights.

(2) The collective management organisation shall keep separate accounts in the books for

Section 99a

Rules for Investing Income

If a collective management organisation invests rights revenue or income arising from investment of rights revenue, it shall do so in the best interests of the rightholders for whom it exercises collective management, in accordance with the investment strategy and with procedures for the allocation of investment risks and having regard to those rules and

- a) in the event of a potential conflict of interests the collective management organisation shall ensure that the investment has been made solely in the interest of the rightholders for whom it exercises collective management,
- b) it invests assets in order to ensure the security, quality, liquidity and profitability of the portfolio as a whole, and
- c) when investing assets, it allocates the risk in order to prevent over-reliance on any specific asset and the accumulation of risks throughout the portfolio.

Section 99b

Deductions from Income

(1) A collective management organisation is authorized to deduct or offset the reimbursement of reasonable and documented expenditure on the exercise of collective management from rights revenue or from income arising from investment of rights revenue. The amount of the reimbursement must be proportionate, determined on the basis of objective criteria, and must correspond to the services provided by the collective management organisation to the rightholders. The first and second sentences apply mutatis mutandis to the reimbursement of costs for social, cultural and educational services provided by the collective management organisation in accordance with Section 99 paragraph 1 letter (d).

(2) A collective management organisation may not pay deductions from rights revenue or income arising from investment of rights revenue managed on the basis of a contract pursuant to Section 97g, other than to reimburse the costs of exercising collective management, unless the collective management organisation, who is a party to such a contract, expressly approves other deductions.

Distribution and Payment of Income

Section 99c

(1) When distributing and paying rights revenue and income arising from investment of rights revenue, which were collected during the exercise of mandatory collective management or extended collective management, the collective management organisation shall only take into account those rightholders whose rights to the same items of protection, or possibly to the same types of work, it collectively manages on the basis of a contract, or who have registered with it for that purpose; it shall not take into account items of protection that have not yet been published. When distributing and paying remuneration collected pursuant to Section 25 paragraph 3 letters (a) and (c), the collective management organisation shall take account of the use and effectiveness of technical protection devices pursuant to Section 43. It shall call on rightholders for whom it exercises collective management under this Act, for whom it has collected remuneration, who are known to it, but are not in the list of rightholders entered in the records to register themselves in the records.

(2) A collective management organisation is obliged to distribute and pay rights revenue and income arising from investment of rights revenue to rightholders in accordance with the rules of distribution without undue delay, at the latest within 9 months from the end of the accounting period in which this income was collected, unless objective reasons, relating in particular to reporting by the user, defining rights, designating the rightholder or allocating information on works and other items of protection to rightholders, prevent the collective management organisation from meeting this deadline. This obligation shall apply mutatis mutandis to a person who is a member of a collective management organisation and is responsible for the distribution and payment of rights revenue to rightholders.

(3) A collective management organisation is obliged to create rules for using income from the exercise of rights and income from investing the income from the exercise of rights which cannot be distributed or paid by the deadline pursuant to paragraph 2 because the rightholder cannot be identified or found; the collective management organisation shall enter this income separately in its accounting.

(4) A collective management organisation shall take all the necessary measures to identify or find rightholders referred to in paragraph 3, and in particular shall verify records of its members and other available records.
